

Dr. SILVANA GEORGIEVA, MD, PhD,

Dr. Silvana Georgieva, MD, PhD, was born on 2 august 1960 in Skopje, R of Macedonia, where she finished her high school education. In 1985 she graduated at the Faculty of Dentistry in Skopje. Her first employment was in 1989 in the Department of Oral Pathology and Periodontology in the University Dental Clinic in Skopje.

In 1992 she acquired the scientific level of MD in dentistry sciences from the area of oral pathology and periodontology.

In 1994 she specialized and obtained the title Specialist of Oral Pathology and Periodontology.

In 1997 she attended professional educative course in the University of Athens, R of Greece, under the attendance of professor Papanikolay, for a period of two months.

With the doctor dissertation in the Faculty of Dentistry in Skopje in 2002 she earned her PhD and the title doctor of dental sciences from the area of oral pathology and periodontology.

In 1994 she was elected for an assistant and she was reelected in this title for two times, in 1998 and in 2002.

She is an active participant (oral an poster presentations) in a large number of congresses, scientific and professional meetings and symposiums of national and international character. She has obtained lectures of educational character for the dental community in the R of Macedonia.

She has published a large number(49) of professional and scientific articles in national and international journals. Also she is an author of the book Focal infection dedicated to the dentistry students.

In 2000 she been has awarded by the Macedonian medical chamber for her special contribution in the field of dentistry